STUDENT EDUCATION ASSOCIATION WINS INDIANA HONOR CHAPTER OF YEAR AWARD

Captures Laurels Second Straight Year

"Whatever place is assigned to education in the historical view of how we got to where we are, and what actually is making for the progress of America, one must put the teacher at the very center as the mainspring of the educational process," stated the president of a mid-western college recently.

Realizing the strategic roll of the Christian teacher in society, Taylor places great emphasis upon its professional education program as indicated by the recognition it has achieved.

For the second consecutive year the Taylor Student Education Association was named the honor chapter in the state by the Indiana Classroom Teachers Association at the ISTA Convention held a few weeks ago in Indianapolis.

Criteria for receiving the award are attendance and participation in the state meetings, planning and organization, carrying out unique projects, membership, and percentage of students belonging to the SEA.

Other criteria are the organization and effectiveness of local meetings and programs, attendance at those meetings and giving assistance to organizing high school groups.

Taylor was one of approximately forty-five colleges whose programs of Teacher Education were selected for study by the National Council on Teacher Education and Professional Standards. This study was made at the National Conference of this organization in Columbus, Ohio, last June.

The Curriculum Laboratory and Materials Center utilized in the teacher education program has been rated as superior by administrators and teachers. One group of professional educators stated "The Curriculum Laboratory would do justice to many larger institutions."

Of Taylor's 848 students 336 belong to the Student Education Association. A total of 41 seniors are majoring in elementary education and 52 are preparing to teach in the secondary schools. For practical experience, these seniors engage in nine weeks of student teaching in public schools in fifteen cities within a radius of approximately 75 miles of the campus. While teaching, secondary students are supervised by the Education Department and by teachers of methods from their major departments.

Teacher education at Taylor is a selective program. To qualify for entry, a student must meet higher than average standards in academic potential, scholarship, health, communicative skills, personality and character. After a student is recommended by the department from which he will receive his major preparation, his application is closely reviewed by the Committee on Teacher Education. This committee, which is composed of faculty members from all divisions of the college, gives guidance to the entire teacher education program.

This extensive program serves several necessary functions: fusing theory and practice, making the pupils more aware of teaching—learning problems, the clarifying of the student's own philosophy of teaching, and finding the level and techniques of teaching for which the students are best suited.

In addition to this classroom experience, students visit schools and observe veteran teachers in action as part of their requirements for courses in Orientation to Teaching, Educational Psychology and methods courses during the sophomore and junior years.

The Education Department faculty includes six professors plus an assistant in placement and certification. Chairman of the Division of Education is Dr. Robert B. Hayes, who received the Ed.D. and the Master's degrees from the University of Kansas and the A.B. degree from Asbury College.

Taylor is one of 12 colleges and universities in Indiana whose teacher education programs are approved by the National Council for the Accreditation of Teacher Education.

TROJANS REPEAT AS HOOSIER CONFERENCE FOOTBALL CHAMPIONS

Five Named To All-Conference Squad

The Taylor University football team won the Hoosier Conference Championship the second consecutive year with a record of five wins, no losses, and one tie, and placed five men on the All-Conference honor squad. In addition, Coach Bob Davenport, former All-American at UCLA, was named Coach of the Year for the third straight year.

The highly productive Trojans also led the conference statistically in several departments. Bob Held, senior half-back, led the HCC in rushing, with 842 yards (80.2 per game). Star fullback, senior Dave Kastelein, junior speedster Paul Warner, and Held, all tied for fifth place in the state in scoring with 42 points each.

Named to the All-Conference offensive team were James Mac-

Leish, senior tackle, Kastelein and Held. Selected for the defensive unit were Gary Jones, sophomore, and Dan Kastelein, junior line-backer.

The Trojan defensive unit ranked 10th in the nation, allowing opponents an average of only 153 yards total offense.

Taylor also led all conference teams in rushing with 235.1 yards per game, in total offense with 282.4 yards per game, and in scoring with 191 points.

SEASON RESULTS

Taylor
14	Indiana Central	10
6	Earlham	14
28	Franklin	6
14	Manchester	7
20	Anderson	20
68	Hanover	0
35	Defiance	0
6	Kentucky State	26

Others who should see considerable action include Rex Kreigh, Sophomore from Ossian, Indiana and Paul Wamsley, Sophomore from Huntington, Indiana.

In summary, the team has good speed, shooting ability, and excellent ball handling. Lack of height, however, is taking its toll in the rebounding and defense departments. Although the Odlemen averaged 90 points per game last trip, the heavier competition this season is expected to reduce that pace considerably.

Scores to date:

Taylor
102	Trinity	89
118	Springs Arbor	96
122	South Western Texas	114
79	Kentucky State	98

BASKETBALL TEAM HAS SPEED, LACKS HEIGHT

The Taylor basketball Trojans are a year away from contention for the Hoosier Conference Crown, according to Coach Don J. Odle, now in his 17th year with the college.

"With only two seniors and one junior on a roster of 23 men, we will have difficulty equaling our 15-9 record of last year," Odle stated. Larry Winterholter, senior from Warren, Indiana and Lee De-Turk, senior from Ephrata, Pa. are expected to lead the attack, with strong assistance from Jim Miller, Junior from Upland, and Larry Harvey, Sophomore from Columbia City, Indiana.
